The Tradition Lives On...

The W.T. Rawleigh Co. has been a friend of the family since 1889 when William Thomas Rawleigh began his independent sales career at the young age of 18. He established a goal for himself. With only $15, a borrowed horse, a mortgaged buggy, and four types of "Good Health Products," he set out determined to become a successful businessman. Rawleigh secured a large number of customers with his dependable service, honest methods, and free trials. He would leave products on "time and trial" knowing that the products would sell themselves.
